

How To Enter

Written by John Estle, Co-Director

Thursday, 30 June 2011 22:28 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 August 2014 15:35

There are three opportunities to enter the Equinox events: online registration prior to September 16, onsite/online registration at early bib pickup on September 18-19, and onsite/online registration at the UAF Patty Center on race morning.

Online registration opens early in the calendar year and continues through 5:00PM on the Tuesday prior to the Equinox events. Early discounted registration fees are available. Entry fees increase to the standard fee one month prior to race day. Each member of a relay team must enter individually, and will pay the entry fee in effect at the time and date they enter.

If you have not entered by 5:00PM on the Wednesday prior to the Equinox events, you may enter at either the Thursday or Friday night bib pickup at the Pumphouse, or on race morning.

Fees for registering on Thursday night and Friday night at the Pump House are higher than if you enter prior to 5:00PM on the Tuesday prior to the Equinox events. Relay runners who have not yet registered or paid by the Tuesday entry cutoff must pay the late fee at the Pumphouse to get their bibs and t-shirts, even if other members of their team have entered.

Race day entry fees are $125 for the marathon and $150 for the ultramarathon. No relay teams not already entered may enter on race morning. Relay runners who have not yet registered or paid by race morning must pay the $125 fee on race morning to get their bib and t-shirt.